Pronto iQ, our Business Intelligence (BI) division, helps you transform your data into actionable insights tailored to your specific needs

Pronto iQ is a dedicated team of Pronto Software specialists you can draw upon when your business needs that extra something. The team builds models and designs BI solutions that consolidate business data across multiple sources — with interactive dashboards to deliver clear visualisations relevant to the needs of individual business users.

Our Business Intelligence (BI) solutions leverage cutting-edge technology to provide fast and comprehensive analytics. Easily manage and report on large volumes of complex data, and consolidate multiple servers, datasets and intricate company structures to gain a complete view of your enterprise in seconds.

Analytics Cubes

Analytics Cubes offer a powerful yet affordable solution for deploying advanced business intelligence infrastructure. For example, Financial Cubes enable finance teams to quickly analyse operational and financial transactions across multiple currencies and reconcile diverse datasets within seconds.

Key features include:

- support for historical snapshot data to analyse past performance trends
- enterprise-level multi-dataset reporting
- rapid data analysis, not just storage
- integration of multiple instances of Pronto Xi data for a comprehensive business overview
- dynamic “What if?” reporting forecasts to inform strategic business decisions

Enterprise Data Warehousing with Pronto iQ Livelink

As data volumes and complexity increase, a single source of truth becomes critical. Enterprise Data Warehousing is a comprehensive solution that integrates data from multiple systems, including Pronto Xi. Our Data Warehousing solution, Pronto iQ Livelink, utilises event-driven replication, ensuring you report on the most current data to power your outcomes. It facilitates low-latency, near-real-time data transfers that quickly and easily replicate Pronto Xi data into enterprise-level data warehouses.

Our robust data warehousing capabilities ensure:

- Centralised data management: Consolidate data from various sources into a single, unified repository
- Centralised data security and governance: Implement robust security measures and governance policies to protect your data and ensure compliance
- Enhanced data accuracy: Ensure consistency and reliability across your organisation by maintaining a single source of truth
- Scalability: Easily handle growing data volumes and complexity without compromising performance

With Pronto iQ Livelink, your organisation can easily navigate the complexities of data management with ease, ensuring you have the right information at the right time to make informed decisions.
